

Jonathan Clark is Clinical Professor, at the Sydney Medical School, University of Sydney, the Director of Research, Sydney Head and Neck Cancer Institute at Chris O'Brien Lifehouse, the Head and Neck Research Lead, RPA Institute of Academic Surgery and Director of international fellowship program at the Sydney Head and Neck Cancer Institute. Professor Clark has published > 170 peer review journal publications and 18 book chapters principally on metastatic cutaneous squamous cell cancer. He currently supervises 9 PhDs, 3 Masters, and 8 MD students. Professor Clark has been principal supervisor for over 25 international fellows undertaking the SHNCI fellowship program providing advanced training in ablative, robotic and reconstructive head and neck surgery. Professor Clark Co-founded the Sydney Facial Nerve Service 2013 and the first dedicated facial nerve clinic in Australia in 2015. He sits on the International editorial board of Head and Neck and Current Opinion in Otolaryngology, and is the regional director representing Australia in the Global Fellowship for the International Federation of Head and Neck Oncological Societies Professor Clark is the Chairman of Beyond Five which is the first dedicated head and neck cancer charity developing online patient educational resources that are freely available at www.beyondfive.org.au.